New agenda system coming soon

Martin County is pleased to announce a new agenda system is coming soon! The new system will feature full reporting and other improvements. Initially the system will be used only for the Board of County Commissioner Meeting agendas and will enable Martin County to increase open government and transparency for citizens. Beginning with the July 10 Board of County Commissioner meeting, residents will be able to utilize the new system for the Board's agendas.

While easy to use, Martin County will offer free training for anyone interested in learning the new system features. To reserve a space in an upcoming training class, please contact Denise Eldredge at deldredg@martin.fl.us or 772-288-5675. Additional support will be available prior to the system implementation, including a detailed, online step-by-step user guide. For a sneak peak preview of this exciting new system, visit Agenda System.
